

Fatigue Reporting

What's the point of it?

Picture the scene.....

So why do we report fatigue?

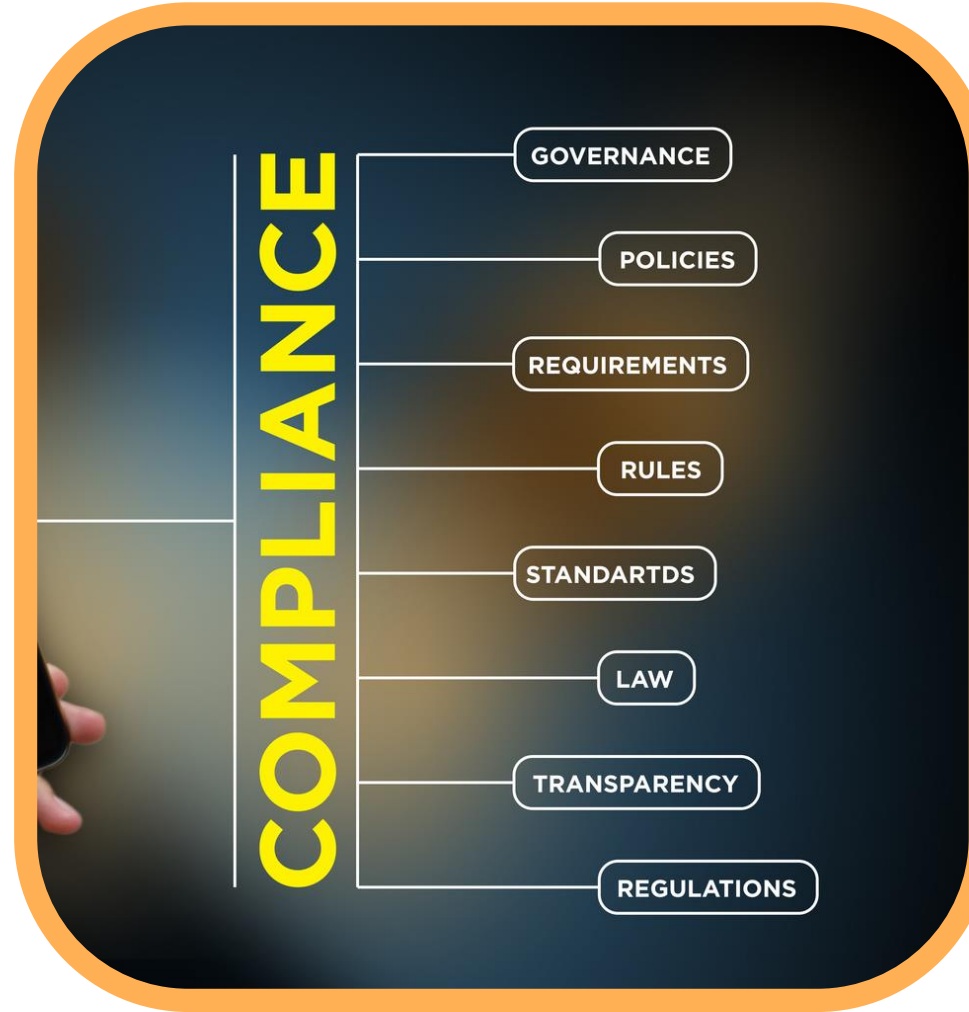

1

Because we can't hide that something bad happened?

2

Because we need to comply with a rule to keep operating?

3

Because your boss needs so nice graphs to show in a meeting?

Or to establish a culture of learning that helps to manage risks to keep an operation safe

Trust is everything but who is just to who?

Staff

Organisation

Authority

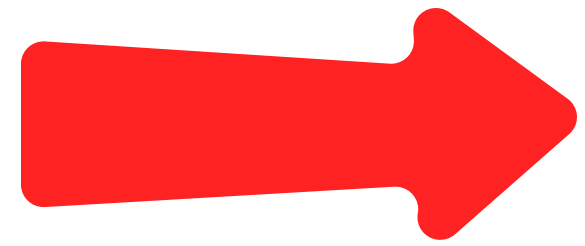

Reporting is all about the detail

Your reports need detail or they are worthless

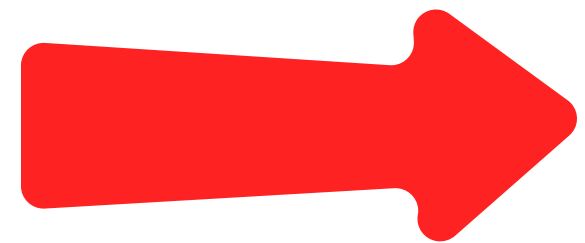

Get into a mindset of learning

Create a positive culture that listens

More information = more knowledge

Questions?